How to Draw a Frog

Start in the middle of the paper!

1. Draw two circles for eyes, then add two smaller circles inside the larger circles. Just below the eyes, draw two legs with webbed feet. (I tell the kids to draw two straight lines, then join them together on the bottom to make one leg.)

2. To make the body, draw a half circle from the left eye to the left leg. Then a half circle from the right eye to the right leg. Add a small line in-between the legs to connect the body.

3. Start a curved line 3/4 up the side of the body, and draw down to the bottom of the frog. Repeat on the other side to add the legs of the frog.

4. Add webbed feet, a lily pad, mouth, tongue, and spots for your frog. You can also add a delicious bug or two if you'd like.

You can use this guide for the DSS Frog Prince & Fantastic Frogs lessons!

TYPES OF BATTLEMENTS

PARTS OF A CASTLE

1 On the board, draw a rectangle to represent the paper.
Draw a small circle in the center of the paper.

2 Add "C" shapes around the circle. Continue building the succulent outward by adding additional "C" shapes.

3 Continue adding "C" shapes until the succulent is large and round.

4 Add a long, skinny rectangle under the succulent. The top of the rectangle may be "behind" the succulent. Add two vertical lines and connect them at the bottom to make the pot.

5 Draw a curved line out of the pot. Curve the line and go back to the pot to make a thick stem. Add leaves.

6 For the cactus, draw a large upside-down "U." Stack smaller "U's" on top of the base. Add "X's" on the cactus for its spines. Draw a pattern on the pot. Add additional plants if desired.

Toucans

1. Draw a dot somewhere on your paper. Because I want my picture vertical, I'm centering the dot (eye) near the middle/top.

Mouth: Draw a vertical line in front of the eye. The eye is near the top of the line. Now, draw a line perpendicular to the vertical line.. This is the center of the beak. To make a closed beak, draw a curved line on top and one on the bottom.

2. After deciding the type of beak (opened or closed), draw a line from the bottom of the beak downwards (like a letter "J") Draw a line for the head.

3. Draw a wing reaching out to the side or tucked into the body. Add a ring around the eye and a crest on the chest.

4. Now add all the details: markings on the beak, twigs or branches and tropical leaves.

Here's a tip for drawing leaves: start with the stem first. Make it straight or curved, then add the leaf.

HOW TO DRAW A TOUCAN

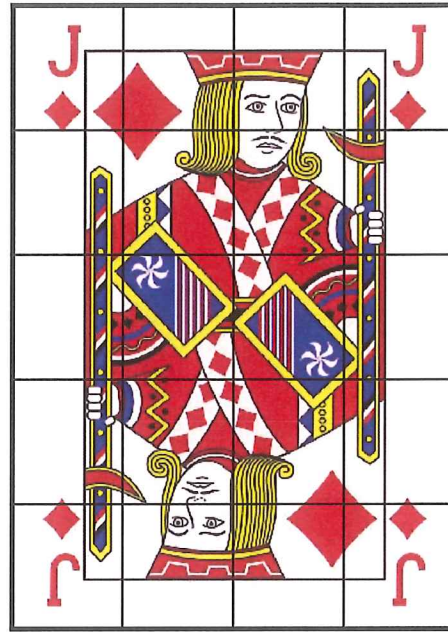

How to Use:

Cut out one grid. Lay on top of a playing card* and move slightly in order to mark all four sides of the card with the appropriate grid spacing. Remove grid guide and connect lines to create a grid on the playing card.

*Grid fits a standard playing card: 2.5" x 3.5"

Royal Grids

How to Use:

These are optional cards to use with the grid already printed on them.
Print in color and cut one card per student.
